Make your own bird feeder

You will need:

- String
- A slice of foam. If it's a bit thick or a coat, use paper.
- Sharp utility knives or a craft knife (ask an adult)
- Sawdust
- Nails, screws, rasps or anything else you think the birds might like

1. Cut the top of the foam over a small circle and cut out a triangle the same. You can also use cardboard or a bottle. Then poke a hole in the top big enough for the string to fit through. Use a craft knife to get the top when you are going this.
2. Cover one side of the shape in paper or fabric.
3. Stick as much bird food as you can onto the paper or fabric. Be creative, you can make a face pattern (or the birds to stop, what you like).
4. Use the hole to drill a hole.
5. Hook the string through the hole and make a loop. Hang it on a branch or tree.
6. Sit back and wait for the birds to come!

Make your own bird feeder

You will need:

- String
- A slice of bread. If it's a bit stale or a crust, even better
- Shape cutter, Scissors or a Knife (and an adult)
- Peanut Butter
- Nuts, seeds, raisins or anything else you think the birds might like

1. With the help of an adult, use a shape cutter to cut out a shape in the bread. You can also use scissors or a knife. Then, poke a hole in the top, big enough for the string to go through. (Be careful not to split the bread when you are doing this)
2. Cover one side of the shape in peanut butter
3. Stick as much bird food as you can onto the peanut butter. Be creative, can you make a nice pattern for the birds to enjoy whilst they have their dinner?
4. Poke the string through the hole and make a loop. Hang it on a branch outside.
5. Sit back and wait for the birds to come!
